Stock Transfer

A stock transfer is the process of moving inventory items from one warehouse, store, or location to another within the same organization. It helps in balancing stock levels, fulfilling internal demands, and optimizing inventory distribution across multiple locations. Stock transfers ensure that the right quantity of products is available where needed, improving operational efficiency and preventing stockouts or overstocking.

During Stock Transfer, search for the product with Name or Barcode, products list will be displayed with different price variants. Select the appropriate product from list to continue:
